

CITIES IN MIGRATION

16 – 17 June 2016

Forum Karlin

Prague, Czech Republic

reSITE and the City of Prague Institute for Planning and Development are excited to host reSITE 2016: Cities in Migration on 16-17 June 2016 at the Forum Karlin in Prague. This will be the 5th annual reSITE conference and festival.

reSITE 2016: Cities in Migration will explore architecture, real estate development, human networks, public policy, public space and public transportation that integrates new residents sustainably and successfully. Together with the best thought leaders in the world we will debate how design, urban planning, policy, finance and shared values can improve our quality of life while creating more resilient and economically competitive cities.

All cities experience migration. Period. Whether it is intercultural, transnational, intergenerational or interurban, the impact is ultimately spatial. The current immigration crisis in Europe and the West has revealed an unexpected experiential gulf between western countries in Europe and new EU member states. This is one of the major challenges of our generation. We will meet it. reSITE 2016 will explain how.

As always, reSITE is interested in bridging the gaps between design, policy, finance and community participation in order to build a more equitable, livable, competitive and resilient city. We seek to design a city that is better for the next generation than it is for this one. reSITE 2016 is open to anyone interested in the future of their city.
