Los Angeles 2020 Map & Exhibition

Starting with the landmark exhibition in 2014, Built by Women has offered the opportunity to demonstrate the breadth of achievement in the building industry by women at the highest levels. The purpose of this competition is to recognize the significant but often overlooked work of women architects, landscape architects, urban designers, engineers, contractors, and developers in the Los Angeles metropolitan area. The initiative is modeled on similar successful programs in New York City and Washington D.C. In 2018, 15,000 copies of the Built by Women Manhattan Map were distributed for free to A'18 attendees.

A map, exhibitions, programming, and tours will be organized to feature the selected projects. This independent effort will enhance the architectural programming around the AIA National Conference in Los Angeles, May 14–16, 2020, and extend through the summer with an exhibition at the Architecture + Design Museum opening on May 14.

Amplify the impact of your participation in the largest national gathering of architects, engineers, and vendors at the AIA National Conference on Architecture by becoming a sponsor of the Beverly Willis Architecture Foundation Built by Women Los Angeles 2020 Map.
