

“The Next 100 Years Project – Architect Edition” Call for Entry

It’s the year 2020. It’s the year COVID-19 became a global pandemic. How will it reshape our civilization?

COVID-19. We’re on the front end of this thing. It won’t be days or weeks. It’ll be months or years. When we emerge from this worldwide catastrophe, everything will be different.

We decided that we need relief from the harsh reality of this catastrophe. More importantly, we need big, dreamy, hopeful ideas that will help us navigate the future. To do this, we need to exercise the sum total of our imaginations. That’s why we created this project.

With The Next 100 Years Project – Architect Edition, we invite architects to speculate on the built environment after the pandemic. More specifically, we ask them to submit an image and an essay that describes their vision for the future. Then we will judge the entries and select the best 100 entries for a digital book of the project. If selected, their page in the book will feature their image, their essay, their headshot, and a brief bio. It will also include the option to hear them read their essay out loud.

The Next 100 Years Project – Architect Edition will be the first edition. Future editions include the Poet Edition, the Musician Edition, the Chef Edition, the Filmmaker Edition, and the Fashion Designer Edition.

There will be no charge to submit an entry. There will be no charge to view and download the book when it’s completed.

BASIC SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

- ✓ One entry per architect
- ✓ Entry should include an image, an essay, a headshot, and a bio
- ✓ Image must be done by hand in any medium
- ✓ Essay must be 100 words or less
- ✓ Headshot must be high-resolution JPG or PNG
- ✓ Biographical information must be 100 words or less
- ✓ All entries must be received by June 15, 2020
- ✓ Notification will occur by July 15, 2020

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

The Next 100 Years Project is the brainchild of Wells Mason. Mason is a designer and sculptor. He has exhibited his work in galleries and museums around the country and his work has been featured in numerous regional, national, and international magazines. He is also a community activist with a long history of impossible-sounding community projects. With The Next 100 Years Project, Mason has created an online community project filled with heart to serve the world.

FOR MORE INFORMATION

For more information about The Next 100 Years Project, please visit our website www.Next100YearsProject.com. We also invite you to visit our social media pages. Or send us an email at Next100YearsProject@gmail.com