

HUD Innovation in Affordable Housing

student design & planning competition

Interested in creating a real-world solution that strengthens the design and production of livable, sustainable housing for low- and moderate-income communities?

Enter the 2021 Innovation in Affordable Housing (IAH) Student Design and Planning Competition. Add an impressive achievement to your resume, and you could even earn prize money for your effort! The competition is open to graduate students.

Competition registration is open through November 2, 2020 at Noon Eastern Standard Time

Find potential team members using the Team Finder Forum

Visit the 2021 IAH Student Design and Planning Competition's website for more information about the competition

For questions or comments, email iah@huduser.gov

